Unstructured PDF source for RAG pipeline | Focus: marketing channels, ROI proxy, Stellar Run trend drivers, next-quarter actions

Executive summary

Stellar Run was the dominant paid-campaign title in 2025. It received $811,522 in total campaign spend, producing 11,379,144 impressions and 900,824 clicks. Its overall CTR was 7.92%, and the campaign generated 1110.0 clicks per $1,000 of spend. The May 2025 push alone delivered 6,228,707 impressions and 479,408 clicks at 7.70% CTR.

Why Stellar Run is trending

The trend is explained by three signals: concentrated May spend, strong audience feedback, and high completion quality. Marketing spend in May reached $416,063, with YouTube, Instagram, Influencer, Google Ads, and OTT Banner placements contributing to reach. Audience quality signals are also strong: Stellar Run has an average review rating of 4.89, 9 positive reviews in the seed data, and 85.6% average completion across its watch activity.

ROI proxy by title

Because this demo dataset does not include revenue, campaign ROI is represented as clicks per $1,000 of spend. This is a directional efficiency metric, not financial ROI.

Title	Spend	Clicks	CTR	Clicks per $1K
Medak Memories	$18,566	21,610	6.47%	1164.0
Stellar Run	$811,522	900,824	7.92%	1110.0
Rayalaseema Rhythm	$80,970	82,848	6.02%	1023.2

Madhapur Mavericks	$70,624	59,373	6.26%	840.7

Recommendations for next quarter

1. Double down on Stellar Run using YouTube, Instagram, and Influencer placements because these channels produced high reach and click volume.
2. Create regional creatives for Hyderabad, Vijayawada, and Visakhapatnam, matching the growth pattern from the quarterly report.
3. Use Dark Orbit as the engagement benchmark because it combines high completion with efficient campaign response.
4. Reduce broad comedy spend until new creative tests improve completion and review sentiment.
5. Track campaign success with spend, impressions, clicks, CTR, completion percentage, rating, and city-level growth together instead of looking at clicks alone.
